Scrofula of Lungs Relieved.

I am now forty-nine years old, and have sufble. Several members of the family on my sumption, and the doctors were all agreed in their opinion that I had consumption also. I had all the distressing symptoms of that terri-ble disease. I have spent thousands of dollars to arrest the march of this disease; I flave employed all of the usual methods, not only in my own case, but in the treatment of other members of my family, but temporary relief was all that I obtained. I was unfit for any manual labor for several years. By chance I and Skin Diseases, 'from the office of Skiff Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga. A friend recommended the use of skiff's Specific, cialming that he had been greatly benefited by its use in some lung troubles. I resolved to tryit. About four years are I commenced to take S. S. S. seconding to directions. I found it an invigorating tonic, and have used about fifty bettles. The results are most remarkable. My cough has left me, my strength has returned, and I weigh sixty pounds more than I ever did in my life. It has been three years since I stopped the use of the medicine, sut I have had no return of the disease, and there are no pains or weakness felt in my lungs. I do the hardest kind of mechanical work, and feel as well as I ever felt since I was a boy. Those, I know, are wonderful statements to make, but I am hereat when I say that I owe my existence and health to-day to Swift's Specific. It is the only my dicine that brought me any permanent relief. I do not say that Swift's Specific will do this in every case, but most positively affirm that it has done this much for me, and I would be recreant to the duty I owe to suffering human ity if I failed to bear this choefful testimary to the merits of this wonderful medicin. I am well known in the city of Montgomery, and I can refer to the best citizens in the city.

OUR OWN COMMITTEE

THESE LEGISLATORS TO MEET HERE TO-DAY TO CONSIDER THE DEBT.

Preparations for the Conference with Sir Edward Thornton

The legislative committee appointed to confer with Sir Edward Thorton will meet at 12 M. to-day at the Capitol. They come together for conference among themselves and have a work of no little labor and of almost infinite importance to do in acquainting them-selves with the facts and figures which are to govern them in the negotiations. They have an arsenal of information in the report of the special joint committee which recently examined the securities in the basement of the Capitol; in the tables from Auditor Marye recently published in the Dispatch, and in various reports and documents from Treasurer Harman and Second-Auditor

The Riddleberger bill, which was adopted by both political parties in this State, and which was then ratified by the people at the polls in the elec-tion for members of the General As-sembly, fixes the debt due by Virginia at nearly $22,000,000, and prescribes the rate of interest at 3 per cent. There have been somewhat over $7,000,000 in new threes issued, and of these the Commonwealth has bought in (and can at any day cancel) about two and a quarter millions.

The figures which have lately come from Auditors Marye and Ruffin and Treasurer Harman indicate that the present rate of taxation will produce a sum barely sufficient to pay the interest and maintain the government and the

An independent investigation has been made by the expert accountant. Mr. James D. Craig, who is clerk of the legislative committee, and his conclusions are the same. These figures the legislative committee will examine.

If they find them correct, it will be their duty to present them to Sir Ed-ward. He, too, will want to make an investigation, but how he proposes to go about it no one here seems to know. He brings Mr. Eraithwaite with him, and will no doubt have the assistance of Mr. Royall and Mr. Cooper, and it ought not to take him very long to ascertain if it is true, as alleged, that Virginia can pay no more than she offers to pay without increase of taxa-

The General Assembly will meet oa Wednesday, and until then their committee may meet either in the Senate chamber or hall of the House of Delegates. After that date they will have to go into other quarters. There ap-pears to be no smtable unoccupied room at the Capitol, but it may be that they can be squeezed into some corner

It is pretty well fixed in advance that the conference of the committee with Sir Edward will be private; not "se-cret, but private"—that is to say the members of the General Assembly will manage to keep themselves posted, but the reporters will be excluded.

Several stenographers have applied to the committee for the job of report-ing the proceedings officially, but it is understood have met with no very enthusiastic encouragement. It is said to be not diplomatic. At any rate a resolution agreed to by the House authorizing the committee to employ a stenographer was voted down by the sographers and reporters are refused admittance the speeches will be shorter than otherwise, and as for the newspapers-why they will probably manage to get their reports all the same.

PERSONAL The legislative committee is as fol-ows: Hon. Charles E. Stuart, of Alexendria, (Speaker of the House,) chair man; Hon. John E. Massey, of Albemarle, Lieutenant-Governor. Senators: James N. Stubbs, of Gloucester; Williams C. Wiekham, of Hanover, and William F. Rhea, of Washington county.

Delegates: James Barbour, of Culpeper; J. H. H. Figgat, of Botetourt; Henry R. Pollard, of King and Queen; H. H. Downing, of Warren; and J. H. Darst, of Pulaski.

General Wickham is a "Straight-cut" (anti-Mahone) Ecpublican; all the other members of the committee

STEAMER WITHDRAWN.

The Company Unable to Compete with Water Lines. The New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Bailroad Company have or-dered off their steamer Old Point Comfort, plying on the James river triweekly between Richmond and Cape Charles, and it will not come to this port again. The Phelton came up in her stead last evening and will sail from the company's wharf at Rocketts at 81 clock this morning, bidding our city a final adien.

lrawal is the company's inability under the inter-State-commerce law to compete with the water lines. They, as equired by this law, have posted in their office a card of through and local rates, the latter not to exceed the former in any case. They claim that having thus to put up their through charges enables the steamboat com panies to give lower rates for through freight and travel, and thereby to secure the bulk of the business, leaving this company not enough to do to warrant them in continuing the boat from here to Cape Charles. This step would have been taken earlier, but the officers hoped the commission would so construe the law is to afford them such relief as to enable them to continue their service on the river and at least make expenses;

ut such has not been the case.
Until this law went into effect the company did a very satisfactory business here and served the public very acceptably. The Old Point Comfort has been on the river for about a year, and during all of the trouble which travel encountered during the past winter on account of gorges, freezes, &c., it missed but one trip. The office of the company will be continued for several days in order that the business may be settled up. Anniversary Sermon.

Rev. Thomas Dixon, Jr., of Goldsboro', N. C., will preach the anniversary sermon before the Young Men's Missionary Society at the Second Baptist about tist church to-morrow night. Mr. Dixon was until last year a distinguished member of the North Carolina Legislature, when he abandoned politics and the law to enter the ministry. He is brother of Rev. A. C. Dixon, of Balti-more, and has just been called to the pastorate of one of the leading churches of Raleigh. Mr. Dixon is regarded as one of the most brilliant of the younger Baptist preachers of the South.

Farewell Service.

The meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms, corner of Fourth and Franklin streets, to-morrow afternoon will be in the nature of a "farewell service," as it will be the last meeting which will be held in the temporary rooms of the association. he subject of the meeting will be Naaman the Syrian," H. Kings, v., 1-19, which will be divided up into six heads and assigned to six young men. Mr. R. E. White, formerly assistant secretary of the association here, but now general secretary of the association at Chambersburg, Pa., will conduct the meeting, and the following gentlemen will make brief addresses:

Messrs. John Munce, E. P. Jones,
John T. Nicholas, S. E. Bishop, P. A.
Arthur, and J. P. Bailey.
Mr. M. L. Willis will preside at the organ and lead the singing. All young men should attend this meeting, which begins at 345 P. M. charge and which begins at 3:45 P. M. sharp, and lasts one hour.

TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER. Four Men in Greensville County-Sheriff Hobbs's Case.

Hon, Beverley A. Hancock, judge of the Second circuit, arrived yesterday morning from Brunswick county, where he had just concluded the day before a long term of the Circuit Court of that county, in which he tried many cases, some of which were quite important. He spent the day at his home, in Chesterficid, near Manchester, and left last night for Hicksford, Greensville county, where he opens court to-day. There are several very important cases to be tried at this term. One is that of four white men, named Daniels, Randall, Watson, and Walters, charged with murdering a colored man. Soon after the murder all four of the ac-cused were arrested and locked up in the county jail, but made their escape, and were rearrested in the State of North Carolina. It is alleged that Walters actually committed the crime, and that the others were parties to it.

Another case to be tried there, in which much interest is felt, is the mat-ter growing out of the removal of Sheriff W. H. W. Hobbs.

At the March term of the County Court of Greensville Hobbs was indicted, tried, and convicted of negligently allowing four prisoners (those referred to above) to escape from jail. The jury assessed his fine at $50 and the Court entered an order removing him from office and appointing J. W. Walker in his stead. Hobbs, through his counsel, applied to Judge Hancock fer a writ of error and supersedeas to the judgment of the lower court, and thus it is that the matter is in the Cir-

At the annual meeting of the International Typographical Union in Pitts-burgh in June last a resolution was adopted providing that each subordimate union should, before the next an-nual meeting, take a vote on the ques-tion of a reduction of hours to nine. The object of this is only to take the sense of each union, so as to ascertain the general sentiment. As it is difficult for all the Richmond compositors to attend one meeting, owing to the busi day and some at night, it has been resolved at an early day to take a vote on the subject in each printing-office in the city, the result to be reported by the Richmond representative to the

MANCHESTER MATTERS.

Sundry Items of Interest from Over the River.

The revival which has been in progress at the Bainbridge-Street Baptist church for several weeks closed last night. Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a large congregation present, and the exercises were of a highly interesting character. Rev. Mr. Needham preached one of his most effective sermons and enforced his ideas with apt illustrations. The music, furnished by a select choir, was very in-spiring. Mr. Needham will preach at this church Sunday morning, at the

One of these ladies was Mrs. Sophroina Twitchel, the authority on Parliamentary rules and Wall street wickedness, who smiled scornfully at Mrs. Blake, as much as to say: "I am here, and don't you forget it." The other was Miss Calista Dets, who writes herealf on her as

There s no one who can do the work of president better than Mrs. Blake, but there is too much 'I am, I can, I do' about her to please people." And Dr. Miller's views were echoed by several.

The afternoon session was opened by Mrs. Blake quietly. She failed to call the meeting to order, but began her address rapidly. This was severely criticised by the ladies. "Our defeat at Albany," she said, "was not a rebuff to us. It may be a temporary check, but that is all. A few days ago we saw the buds touched with frost and the green grass under snow. Was that a proof that we shall have no summer? So that check we received is no indica-tion that we shall not be successful."

Mrs. Blake, talking of the defeat of the Crosby high-license bill, said that and again by women who would have advocated his cause, but he declined to listen to them or to consider their feelings, and the result was that he had been defeated. Mrs. Beckwith, of Brooklyn, said she had been called an upstart in the canse. That might be, but she was thoroughly tired of asking men for what belonged to her. "I wish we had thousands and thou-

Mrs. Moore inveighed against American politics, and said she had heard that Mayor Hewitt paid out $25,000 to be elected. "We don't want to put the heads of men on the block," she said. AT WORK ON THE MYSTERY. A Witness in the Rahway Case Ar-

(Times of Friday.) The investigation into the Rahwaymurder mystery was continued yester-day by Coroner Terrill and a jury. At the rate at which the inquest is at present proceeding it is more than probable that it will last through the coming week. Only three witnesses were examined at yesterday's hearing, which consumed at least eight hours. Coroner Terrill says there are twenty witnesses yet to be called, and the number keeps increasing, for the testimony thus far given has been prolific of new names, all of which are duly noted down for a subpoena. Coroner Terrill said yesterday that he was working on his own theory of the case, which was that somebody in or around Milton was concerned in or knew something about the murder. "After I have exploded that theory," said he, "I'll tackle another."

coming down Central avenue, where the body was found, toward Jefferson avenue. She had never seen the man before in Rahway or in that neighborhood. The man walked a little faster when he saw her, and seemed alarmed. He was dressed in dark clothes, was tall and stout, had a heavy dark moustache, and wore a black Derby hat, which was set back on his head. The man had on an overcoat, walked very erect, and did not seem like a workingman.

James H. Brunt, who keeps a grocery store in Milton, directly opposite the residence of the Keeches and the Froats, was able to fix the time at which the murder was probably committed. He said he was awakened on Friday night about a little sign of the said her was awakened on Friday higher than the said her was a sign at the said of the sai about or a little after 11 o'clock by the session of the annual Convention of the New York State Woman-Suffrage Association. morning after the murder he got up early and went into his store. From there he was able to see into Froat's house. He saw Keech standing at the window, appearing to watch everybody that passed in the street. Keech always took good care, however, to conceal himself when anybody came in front of the window. As soon as they were past he would step up to the window and watched to see which way they went. Keech remained in that posi-tion for the best part of the day. Later Keech, Froat, Mrs. Froat, and another woman left the house and started off in the direction of Short Hills. Both the Froats and the Keeches seemed to be on the watch after the murder. Mr. Brunt bad never seen Froat do a day's work since he moved there. Strange women were constantly coming to Froat's. Almost every week there were some new women coming and going from there. Three strange women were at Froat's house on the Friday pre-ceding the murder. One of these was a young woman about eighteen years old, whose hair very closely resembled that of the dead woman. That was the only resemblance he saw.

When the body was found Brunt picked up the pocket-handkerchief and found in it a mass of dark-brown hair, containing about fifty hairs an inch and a quarter long bunched together. He thought the hair resembled Keech's. Mr. Brunt denied having sold any eggs on the Friday preceding the murder to any one carrying a basket like the one found near the body of the murdered girl. He never sold eggs. After all this testimony Mr. Brunt said in answer to a question by the foreman of the jury that he entertained no suspi-ciou of murder against either Frost or to where the body was lying he did not look at the face. He said he did not see anything around the body, and afterward admitted observing the ket, eggs, and parasol. He stayed in the vicinity of the body for an hour, and at Froat's four minutes, he said, but he did not reach home until I o'clock. He had gone to Froat's after Froat's boy. He talked three minutes to Froat and one to the boy. Froat said "it was an awful deed, and the party who done it should be found out." Finally Reifle admitted that he did not go to Froat's to see the boy, and that the boy was not in the habit of coming over to the farm where he worked. He said he did not go to Froat's for any particular purpose. Witness admitted that he had talked to Froat on the ground where the body was found. Froat said he would lynch the murderer if he found him. The inquest was then adjourned until to-morrow morning. The witness Reifle was put under arrest by the coroner late last night and taken to police headquarters. It is asserted that the authorities are possessed of some in-formation which will connect him with

SHE FLEW TO HER FIRST LOVE. Pretty Miss Vance Suddenly Changes Her Mind on the

A St. Paul (Minn.) special says: The exclusive circles of St. Paul are greatly agitated over the rumored elopement and marriage of Miss Carrie Vance, who was a reigning society favorite here last winter, with young Mr. Bradley, son of a prominent banker of Louis-ville, Ky. Miss Vance came to St. Paul last autumn and spent the win ter in the city. She was handsome, vivacious, and the idol of the gilded youth who were fortunate enough to win her approving smile.

During her visit here she made the acquaintance of a Mr. Marshall, of Milwankee. Miss Vance received the attentions of Mr. Marshall favorably, and the gossips say after a three-months' courtship they became en-gaged. Shortly after the close of the carnival season, in company with her affianced and several St. Paul friends, Miss Vance returned to her home, it New Albany, Ind. Mr. Marshall gained the sanction of her parents to their marriage, and all arrangements were completed for the nuptial ceremony to take place late in the summer. Mr. Marshall returned to his home in Mil-

Not long after his departure Miss Vance renewed her acquaintance with Mr. Bradley, a popular young society man of Louisville and prospective heir to a large fortune. The lady had known Mr. Bradley several years previously, and it was rumored at one time that he had professed his love to her and been put off with an evasive answer. Upon meeting him recently Miss Vance is said to have forgotten her pledge to Marshall and fallen desperately in love with her old suitor. Matters culmiwith her old suitor. Matters culminated quickly, and one day she made a trip across the river to Louisville and repaired with Bradley to the house of a prominent minister, where they were married. The bride returned at once to her home in New Albany, and told has accounted by the revelopment of her newly assumed the her parents of her newly-assumed ties.
The family reproved her severely for her sudden change of heart, and Mr.
Marshall is said to have been notified of the event at once.
